

QUICK START GUIDE

FIREWIRE CABLE

Note: No drivers or CD's are required to install your HardTape cartridge for most operating systems.

Option 2 Connect Cartridge via FireWire Cable to System

- Insert the 6-pin end of the FireWire cable into the FireWire port on your notebook or desktop computer.
- The operating system will detect that new hardware is being installed and will automatically install the HardTape cartridge. A HardTape icon will then appear in the My Computer folder. Installation is now complete.

- The HardTape cartridge can also be used with the "i-link" port found on many Sony computers.
- A 6-pin to 4-pin adapter is required to connect the FireWire cable to the "i-link" port.
- The 4-pin "i-link" port does not supply power so one of the power adapters (USB-5VDC; AC-5VDC) is required.

Note: Power adapters and i-link connectors can be purchased from Audavi at www.audavi.com

Option 3 Disconnect Cartridge from System

- To safely disconnect the HardTape cartridge, you must disable your FireWire port prior to removing the cable from your computer system.

To disable: (Windows)

- Select the Unplug or Eject Hardware icon from the lower right Windows icon bar. Note, the icon may say Safely Remove Hardware.

- A dialog box opens to Safely Remove Device.
- Click on FireWire device in the Windows dialog box.

To disable: (MAC OS)

- Drag the HardTape icon into the Trash folder or select the HardTape icon and choose "eject volume" from the file menu.
- The HardTape cartridge may now be safely removed.

Option 1 Connect FireWire Cable to Cartridge

- Connect the FireWire cable to your HardTape cartridge.

- The FireWire cable carries both data and power.
- Connection of the 5VDC jack is not required when using the FireWire cable.
- The master/slave jumper block is set correctly for the FireWire cable and will not need to be adjusted.
